More Than a Website — a Purpose-Built Solution for Portfolio-wide Engagement, Enrollment, and Growth

Built with patient input and backed by a globally compliant data analytics platform, Citeline Trial Portfolio Websites transform how you educate, engage, and enroll participants at scale. This sponsor-branded solution goes beyond trial listings to create a dynamic, centralized experience that meets the needs of patients, caregivers, and HCPs — while driving operational alignment across your clinical development ecosystem.

Study
Make it simple for patients to learn about a study and take next steps to participate

Disease or Program
Empower patients to better navigate their disease and treatment options that could be right for them

Portfolio
Guide individuals across your portfolio of research — and find the trial that's right for them

Built for sponsors. Designed for patients. Ready to scale.

Centralized Education & Trial Access
Deliver intuitive, patient-friendly pages that educate, build trust, and guide visitors to take action — whether that's matching, prescreening, enrolling, or simply staying in touch. Configurable across therapeutic areas, geographies, and programs, the solution flexes to support your evolving business and research strategy.

Transparency at Scale
Eliminate manual updates with automatic data sync from ClinicalTrials.gov or TrialScope Disclose. Host trial documents and ensure visitors always access the most up-to-date and accurate information.

Community & Communication Tools
Build a secure community of patients and HCPs. Keep them engaged with trial updates, launch surveys to gather feedback, and support long-term connections that turn awareness into enrollment.

Operational Efficiency
Manage trial documents, website performance, and all engagement programs through a single, compliant platform — streamlining recruitment operations across your portfolio and driving cross-functional collaboration.
